

Be a part of National Drug Facts Week

January 27–February 2, 2014

Looking for materials to use at your National Drug Facts Week event?

Explaining the science behind drug abuse can be difficult. To help you prepare, the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) offers free materials that are designed for teens that provide science-based information on how drugs impact the brain and body.

- IQ Challenge 2014 – Test teens’ knowledge about drug abuse with this updated interactive quiz.
- Shatter the Myths – Answer teens’ most frequently asked questions about drugs with this engaging booklet.
- Marijuana: Facts for Teens – Share facts about marijuana and its potential harmful effects in a question-and-answer format using this booklet.

Check out NIDA’s other free resources and don’t forget to register your event!

Register Your Event

Spread the Word!

Let your followers know about National Drug Facts Week by using the tweet below.

Tweet This

www.drugfactsweek.drugabuse.gov

National Institute on Drug Abuse

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) is part of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the principal biomedical and behavioral research agency of the United States Government. NIH is a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.